REPORTS RECEIVED AT THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

A General Review of the Crops throughout the Union Classified by Geographical Sections.

COTTON.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The returns of the cotton crop to the Department of Agriculture show the condition of June, which was 96, has not been maintained, and is for July 1st, 93. The figures indicating the condition compared with the June figures are, North Carolina, 104, a gain of 6; South Carolina, 81, a loss of 13; Georgia, 86, loss of 7; Florida, 91, loss of 4; Alabama, 76, no change; Mississippi, 92, a loss of 7; Louisiana, 83, loss of 2; Texas, 90, loss of 4; Arkansas 103, a gain of 3; Tennessee, 101, a gain of 7. The universal complaint is drought, which has been most severe in South Carolina, Georgia and Texas. The stand, however, for the whole country is good, and reported well worked and free from grass. Insect injuries are not reported to any extent.

TOBACCO.

The acreage of tobacco for the whole country shows a decrease. In four States, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania, in which the bulk of the seed of leaf tobacco is grown, there is an increase in the acreage of about 13 per cent. as compared with 1878. Of the States producing shipping, manufacturing and smoking tobacco, which constitutes nine-tenths of all the tobacco grown in the United States, North Carolina alone shows an increase in the area planted; all others indicate a material decrease from the acreage of last year. The condition for the whole country is slightly below that of July 1, 1878. Massachusetts alone of the States bordering on the Atlantic, shows an increased condition, and Tennessee in the west, places her condition at 94 against 89 last year.

CORN.

The area planted in corn in the whole country exceeds that planted last year. North Carolina, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee being the States that show the largest gain in the South. Ohio and Indiana show some decrease, while Illinois increases 7 per cent. The states west of the Mississippi river make the largest gains as a section, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri, all ranging from 104 to 118. Condition in all Southern States is low on account of drought in Texas, not over half crop. The Northern States show fair condition, while those west of the Mississippi river show a very high average over 100.

WHEAT.

The July returns show the New England States to average 99 per cent. The crop is reported as small and late, but promising.

The Middle States report only 86 per cent. There are general complaints of drought, mildew, the hessian fly and local storms.

The South Atlantic States report 95 per cent., and stands thinned by severe winter, killing it out, and the remaining growth stunted by the drought in many northern counties; but further down the coast the condition is greatly improved. This section would be a full average but for the injuries in Virginia, bringing the State average down to 85 per cent. Georgia reports 108 per cent., with an excellent quality of grain. The commercial authorities report an almost entire cessation of movement of Northern wheat, and that the Georgia local mills are finding material sufficient in their home growth.

The Gulf States average 75 per cent. The small crops of Alabama and Mississippi are in a high condition, but the crop of Texas is a third below the average through drought and local storms. The Mediterranean is the most successful variety.

The Southern Inland States average 98 per cent. on grain of a remarkably fair quality generally.

The States north of the Ohio River average 101 per cent., the straw is short but the grain is plump and the heads have greatly improved by the recent rains.

States west of the Mississippi average 89 per cent. Injuries by the chinch bugs in the Southern parts and by storms in the Northern portion.

The Pacific States average 108 per cent. The winter wheat of the Oregon averages 112 per cent.

Countenancing a Great Project.

LONDON, July 15.—A Paris dispatch to the Times says the budget commission of the Chamber of Deputies and the senatorial commission have pronounced in favor of France taking an active part in opening up Central Africa. The commission to examine the project for uniting Algeria and Senegal to Soudan by railway has been appointed. It includes M. de Lesseps, various senators and deputies and a number of civil engineers. A dispatch to the Times from Geneva announces that all the members of the Orleans family met in that city last Saturday. The object of the meeting is not stated.

Aquatics.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 15.—At a meeting of the Rowing Association last night it was decided to challenge Wallace Ross to row Warren Smith a three mile race on Bedford basin for $5,000 to $1,0000.

Understand it if You Can.

PARIS, July 15.—In accordance with the law passed by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies on Saturday, the Council of State, the last stronghold of the Reactionaries has been remodeled by the appointment of twenty new members.

Another Heavy Failure.

LONDON, July 15.—Robert Udall & Son, merchants of Manchester, have failed; liabilities, £45,000.

Working the Blooms Again.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 15.—Two hundred of the puddlers and helpers who struck for higher wages three weeks ago, resumed work this morning, the company deciding to give them an advance of fifteen cents per ton.

Germany and the Vatican.

LONDON, July 15.—A Berlin correspondent of the Times says: The key of Prince Bismarck's present policy toward the Vatican, will be found in one of his recent speeches, in which he said that it was praiseworthy under certain circumstances to fight the quarrel out to the bitter end, but when the ways and means presented themselves of toning down acerbity of conflict without anecting the principle at stake, he would not deem himself justified in neglecting such proffered opportunity. The correspondent believes that the most that has been accorded to the ultramontanes is that in consequence of the retirement of Dr. Falk from the ministry of ecclesiastical affairs, the ecclesiastical laws will be enforced with more leniency than if he had remained in office, and that this may ultimately have the effect of procuring recognition of the ecclesiastical laws by the Vatican.

No New Cases.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The National Board of Health to day received a telegram from Dr. Mitchell at Memphis, stating that there had been no new cases of yellow fever in the State.

MEMPHIS, July 15.—The first train on the Little Rock Railroad since last Friday left this morning fer Lanoke, Arkansas, to which point the quarantine has been raised. Judge Ray's son was not so well to-day. No new cases have been reported, and the excitement attending the reports already published has entirely subsided. A few citizens have returned.

CARIO, Ill., July 15.—At a meeting of the Board of Health this forenoon it was resolved that owing to the favorable news from Memphis and the South, all quarantine restrictions will be suspended.

Proposed Alteration in the Germanic Constitution.

BERLIN, July 15.—Bills have been introduced in Bundesrath for the alteration of those articles of the Germanic Constitution by which the Legislature must meet and the budget be voted annually, and by which the duration of Parliament is fixed at three years. The bill which proposes to substitute biennial meetings of Parliament, and biennial budgets, has created considerable sensation as tending to further free the government from Parliamentary control. The ostensible reason for the change is the inconvenience of discussing the two budgets, Prussian and Imperial, in the same year. It was suggested some time ago that they might be taken up in alternate years. The creation of the department for the control of the Imperial railways is also regarded as a step toward rendering the government less dependent of Parliament.

Suspension in Cotton Manufacture.

LONDON, July 15.—Published statistics show an increasing depression in cotton manufactures. The situation at Blackburn has already been reported. At Preston four hundred and fifty thousand spindles have stopped out of an aggregate of two million, as well as one quarter of all the looms. At Acerington work is very irregular especially in the weaving departments. Sixty-eight hundred spindles are idle in two mills, besides numerous other stoppages. In the Lehigh district one hundred and twenty-three thousand spindles are working on short time, and one hundred and forty-three thousand have stopped altogether. In the Haslingden district seventy-four thousand spindles and eleven hundred looms are idle.

The Buford Case.

OWENTON, Ky., July 15.—In the Buford trial this morning, among the witnesses for the defense was Dr. Bell, of Louisville, who was examined as an expert. He testified that he would not hesitate to pronounce Buford instance, basing his opinion on the testimony that had been offered. The defense attach great weight to the evidence of Dr. Bell.

Trying to Force the Question.

LONDON, July 15.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote in reply to Mr. Samuelson (Liberal), said the bill relating to elections and corrupt practices ought to be considered before the dissolution of Parliament, but he doubted whether it could be taken up during the present session.

The Fire Record.

NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—Buildings No. 16 to 28 on Commercial place were burned yesterday. Loss is estimated at $30,000. A. M. Hill's jewelry establishment was badly damaged by the water, but it was covered by insurance PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—The Perseverance cotton and woolen yarn mill at Manayunk, operated by John P. Holt and Brother, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss $26,000; insurance about $14,000.

The Fish Hatchery Located.

Burke Blade.

Mr. Worth, who has charge of the Fish Hatchery and fish interests of the State, after much care and search for a permanent location for the hatchery, has found that this point presents the greatest advantages. The temperature of the water is exactly right. The State owns the land, it is within half mile of the railway depot and in every way so admirably adapted to his uses that he did not hesitate to recommend the Asylum grounds as the place, of all others. It is believed that this business will do good in offering a diversion of advantage to some of the diseased minds which may hereafter be placed in the curative institution.

Winston Items.

The weather hot and sultry with occasional showers.

TOBACCO TRADE.

Tobacco is beginning to come in quite lively and the prospects of a brisk trade encouraging.

CROPS

have suffered greatly for rain, but are looking somewhat improved in the last few days. M.

Song of a Kiss.

[From the Home Journal]

I sing the trembling kiss
Of an enchanting miss.
Oh, life, you ve nothing sweeter;
One thrilling little taste
I snatched from her in haste.
Ah, life, you've nothing fleeter.

From parlor floors above
The bold old god of love
Swept out by modern fashion,
Still rules on kitchen stairs,
And there caught unawares,
Makes ladies own their passion.

At night on kitchen stair
I met her, then and there,
No memory is sweeter.
She struggled first to flee,
Then swiftly turned to me
And kissed me, and I kissed her.

Ye artificial throng
Who drove young folk along,
Straight-laced and fashion-fettered.
You'll raise your well-bred wail,
That this sweet girl should fail
To stand forever tethered.

Fear nothing for her sake;
We're too well-bred to make
A match through foolish feeling.
Heigho, our triple curse,
High station, meager purse,
And love beyond concealing.

But oh begrudge her not
This one sweet in our lot,
Tenderly, dearly given.
No stain such kisses bear,
She needs no frown nor prayer,
For that fond act she's shriven.

The great archangel's pen
Wrote no sin 'gainst her when
She kissed in her pure passion.
In Heaven hearts are matched,
On earth our fortunes patched,
In both she keeps in fashion.

A COSTA RICAN PICNIC.

ONLY A CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED THIS TIME.

Three Days' Fighting in the Streets--One Hundred and Seventy Killed in the Engagements.

PANAMA, July 15.—News from Nicaragua is that a conspiracy to overturn the Government of Costa Rica, headed by Federico Mora, and Reuse Sandoval was discovered about the 28th ultimo, and that the entire correspondence relating to it had fallen into the hands of the Government. Mora and Reuse Sandoval had been arrested and many other arrests were being made in the interior.

A revolution in Magdalena has triumphed and that President Robles, whose principal crime seems to have been his active opposition to the candidature of the party in power, is now in prison. The three days' fighting in the streets at Santa Martha ended on the 25th of June. One hundred and seventy lives were lost. The Supreme Court at Peru has disapproved of the action of the Court of Prizes in regard to the release of the German steamer, Luxor, and has ordered the vessel to be detained in Callao and the question is to be reconsidered.

Digest of the Supreme Court Opinions, June and July Term, 1879.

[Reported for the News by Walter Clark Esq., Attorney at Law.]

BY SMITH, C. J.:

30. Rogers vs. McKenzie, from Robeson.

A payment by the defendant to one of two counsel who has been for seven years attorney of record for the plaintiff in that cause is binding on the plaintiff, though in fact he did not employ the associate counsel to whom the payment was made, and was not aware of his appearing for him.

BY SMITH, C. J.:

31. Long vs. Bank of Yanceyville, from Alamance.

While an answer, controverting allegations in the complaint, remains on file, it is irregular to entertain a motion to dismiss. A motion to dismiss on the ground of the statute of limitations can not be maintained, as it can only be taken advantage of by answer. The face of a bank bill is not evidence of the date of its issue, as they are constantly paid into the bank and re-issued. The statute of limitations, in its ordinary acceptation, does not apply to Bank-bills intended to circulate as money. The statute begins to run upon the personal (statutory) liability of the stockholders from the time when the bank refuses and ceases to redeem and is notoriously insolvent. Whether that point of time is the date of suspension of specie payment, as held in Godfrey vs. Terry, 97 U. S. R., it is not necessary now to decide. Where the complaint is entitled, and drawn, as a creditors' bill, it is sufficient, though the summons is not so framed, and it need not be, as it is a mere notice of the action and refers to the complaint for the nature of the proceeding. The court intimate strongly that the act of March 12, 1866 for winding up the business of the banks can not impair the rights of prior creditors, but hold a direct decision on the point to be not now necessary.

BY SMITH, C. J.

32. Long vs. Bank of Yanceyville, from Alamance.

[This is the petition of a creditor to come in and make himself a party to the action reported as No 31 above]. In addition to the ruling on the statute of limitations in No 31, the court cite and approve as a proper rule in such applications, Glenn vs. Farmers Bank 80 N. C. 97.

BY SMITH, C. J.:

33. Bruff vs. Stern, from Pitt.

Unless there is manifest error, this court will be slow to disturb the conclusions of facts found by the judge below. The court will not surrender property in custodia legis, if it appears reasonably necessary to protect the rights of the plaintiff until the trial. Whether the trustee in a deed of assignment knew of the fraudulent purpose of the assignor must be left for the final trial. The court will not assume that there was no complicity and release the property. If the affidavit for attachment alleges property concealed, the exemption should come out of such concealed property and not be allowed out of the attached property, until such allegation is passed upon by a trial. The affidavit required for ancillary remedies, as in C. C. P. 201, need not comply rigorously with the rules of verification exacted by C. C. P. 117, for complaints in cases where the verification is made by an agent.

BY ASHE, J.:

34. State vs. Brown, from New Hanover.

When a grand jury has returned a bill "not a true bill," and such finding is entered, the same bill can not be reconsidered by them, though a new bill perhaps may be sent. The practice which has grown up, when the grand jury has found a defective bill of sending it back for amendment is rather tolerated, than warranted by law.

BY ASHE, J.:

35. McKinnon vs. McKinnon, from Richmond.

A guardian gave notes for the tuition of his ward signed by him as guardian. Upon his ward arriving of age he had a full settlement reserving enough money in his hands to pay the notes. Held. An action cannot be maintained by the creditor upon the guardian bond for his debt. The surety is discharged by the settlement. Besides an action on the guardian bond only accrues for the benefit of the ward or her assignee.

BY ASHE, J.:

36. Rowland vs. Barnes, from Wilson.

A gin was left by the plaintiff in the possession of the defendant for safe keeping, who sold it to A without any authority. Subsequent to the sale, the defendant met the plaintiff, and told him of the sale, to which he replied, "very well, go ahead and collect the money and remit." Held, this was a ratification of the sale, and the plaintiff's subsequently meeting the defendant and saying to him "I do not know A in the transaction, but shall look to you" to which the defendant made no reply, did not fix on him the responsibility for A's debt, an implied promise being without consideration besides being void under the statute of frauds. Nor did the plaintiff have the power to withdraw his ratification.

BY DILLARD, J.:

37. Skinner vs. Warren, from Pitt.

A Sheriff had three executions in his hands, under which he had advertised the debtor's property for sale on the 3rd Monday in March, but, upon the debtor's request and his written waiver of the thirty days notice, sold the land after two days advertisement and without notice to, or the knowledge of, one of the judgment creditors, and it was bid in at a nominal sum by the other two judgment creditors. The Sheriff subsequentl declined to make a deed to the purchaser. Held. A stranger who buys at an execution sale has a right to assume that the Sheriff has done his duty in all things anterior to the sale and has the right to his deed. But the violation of the law here was with full knowledge of the plaintiffs and was participated in by them and they can not compel a deed from the Sheriff.

BY DILLARD, J.:

38. Dixon vs. Dixon, from Greene.

Where a judgment debtor purchases land with his own funds but has the title made to A, who by agreement conveys to the debtor's wife, no lien is acquired on the debtor's interest in such land by the docketed judgment. The institution of an action, previous to the debtor's adjudication in bankruptcy by the judgment creditor to subject the debtor's interest in such land is not a lien but merely a lis pendens which stops further conveyances, and the debtor's interest in the land passes by the bankruptcy to his assignee to be administered generally, as in case of his death it would have passed to his personal representative. Even if it were a lien, the State court is ousted, by the bankruptcy, of jurisdiction to administer it, Blum vs. Ellis 73 N. C. 292 cited and approved.

BY DILLARD, J.:

39. Merchants Bank vs. Lotterloh, from Cumberland.

An action does not lie to recover back usurious interest which has been paid by the debtor. Hence to an action upon a note, the debtor can not set up as a counterclaim or set off, the usurious interest paid by him in successive renewals of the note.

ENGLAND'S MILLIONAIRES.

The Men Who Have Gained Wealth by Their Own Exertions.

London, writes a correspondent of the New York Times, still manages to sell vast quantities of work of art, and the merchants and manufacturers of the studies and auction rooms. The finest galleries, the most costly collection of modern days, have been made by the cotton kings of Manchester, the merchant princes of Liverpool and the midland manufacturers. Another circumstance worth remembering is that most of these rich art collectors have been the architects of their own fortunes. Indeed, the majority of the wealthy men of business in England have either made their own fortunes or sprung from some poor, clever, industrious man, who, like Richard Crawshay has laid the foundation of the house. Here are a few examples: Ripley, the member of Parliament for Bradford, who owns half the town is self made. His father and mother used to attend the market. The father of Bass, the great brewer, was in a very small way of business, and his mother sold yeast in a little shop. The first lord of the admiralty's father kept a small news agent's store in London. Mr. Walter, member of parliament and chief proprietor of the Times, dates back, I believe, to his father's humble printing office in the city. Mr. Johnston, who left behind him the Standard, worth $150,000 a year besides real estate, was an officer in the old bankruptcy court. The late Herbert Ingram, member of Parliament and founder of the Illustrated News, kept a little drug store at Nottingham. Mr. Lawson the chief proprietor of the Telegraph, for which he draws for his share, $150,000 a year, was the commercial representative of an ink house. He is now one of the rich commoners of England. Report has it that his income is over $600,000 a year. This, of course, does not begin to approach the income of the wealthy men of England who have inherited as well as made fortunes. Robert Crawshay had at least $35,000,000 left him by his father. How much more he has made or lost I don't know. He gave his daughters wedding gifts that would buy a German dukedom. But, talking of newspaper men, Labouchere, in spite of the newspapers and theatres, pays income tax on $160,000 a year. He was robbed some time since by forgeries on his bank of $75,000, extending some months, without being aware of it. The bank called his attention to some irregularity, which brought the fraud to light.

THE ALLENS OF BERTIE.

The Edenton Home of William Allen --His Ancestry, etc.

Correspondence Philadelphia Times.

EDENTON, N. C., July 2.—The reminiscences of the career of William Allen of Ohio, lately given to the public by a correspondent of the New York Times, at Chillicothe, suggest the pertinency of the following scrap of history:

On King street, in the ancient town of Edenton, two doors from the southwest corner of Main or Broad—for the street is called by either of these names indifferently—stands an old time building, which is still known as the "Nat Allen Place." It is a medium sized frame house, surmounted by one of those huge, overhanging Dutch roofs of which the modern mansard seems to be a legitimate architectural development. Here in 1807 was born no less a character than Governor Wm. Allen, of Ohio. he of the mighty voice, sametimes irreverently styled Olebillallen,' and popularly supposed to be of immense age—at least a centenarian. The Allens were a reputable and highly cultivated family. They would fight though at the dropping of a hat. It might give many instances of their pugilistic powers. They didn't fight duels—that is, not according to the 'code'—but they went at their antagonists in the summary fashion known here as 'fist and skull.' It was a word and a blow with them, and the blow not infrequently came first. Colonel Nathaniel Allen, father of the Gubernatorial William, was a man of high standing, a wealthy merchant and one of the proprietors of the noted 'Lake estate' of 75,000 acres of land, all in one tract, in Washington county, North Carolina. Colonel Allen died when his son William was but little more than an infant, leaving a daughter named Mary, who was several years older than William. Rev. Pleasant Thurman was stationed at Edenton as pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in the village, and Miss Mary Allen was one of the communicants. She was a young lady of considerable personal beauty and very pious. The minister and the fair sister fell mutually in love and were married. When Rev. Mr. Thurman left Edenton with his wife for Lynchburg, Virginia, he took his little brother-in-law, William Allen, then about four years, along with him.

Since the Rev. Pleasant Thurman and Mary his wife were the parents of the distinguished Democratic United States Senator from Ohio, Honorable Allen G. Thurman, Governor Allen's nephew, I may be pardoned for transcribing the following entry from the records of the Methodist Episcopal Church here. It occurs at page 4, and reads thus:

Married on Tuesday, the 21st May, 1811, by the Rev. James Boyd, the Rev. Pleasant Thurman, to Mary G. Allen, daughter of Colonel Nathaniel Allen, deceased, of the town of Edenton.

Another entry at page 8 indicates that the newly-wedded pair removed from Edenton between the 15th and 21st of October, in the same year. And thus North Carolina gave to Ohio two of her foremost Democratic statesmen, the one a native and the other, though born in Virginia, of good old tar-heel stock.

SENATOR BAYARD.

A PROSPECTIVE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE'S PARTING SHOT.

The Issues Between the President and Congress Defined--The Country Hears.

As Senator Bayard was leaving New York Saturday for Europe, a World reporter interviewed him "in the words and figures, to-wit:"

Urged on by the "stalwart" cabal of his own party, Mr. Hayes has been led to make claims of power and to take a position wholly untenable. The issues which he has thus unwisely raised are fundamental in their character, and it is well for the American people to be recalled to the true nature of their government and to the principles upon which hopes for its maintenance are to be based. They promptly passed the appropriation bill supplying the army with $27,000,000, and simply proposed to repeal a provision of law which, according to its author, Senator Jacob Howard, of Michigan, was confessedly a war measure only, and which permitted troops to be brought to the polls of election to keep the peace. It is difficult to see how any man friendly to a government of laws should desire to continue such a measure in time of peace. In fact, the question of the necessity of holding elections without the presence of armed force does not bear discussion; and it was a lamentable illustration of the intensity and blindness of party feeling when not a single member of the Republican party in either House ventured to record his vote in favor of the repeal of so un-American and indefensible a law.

But one thing he has succeeded in, and that is to show that he has the will and power to obstruct the passage of laws by an arbitrary veto power based upon party discretion, and thus throw the Government into confusion and fill the public mind with apprehensions by preventing Congressional supplies. There is nothing substantially vetoed by Mr. Hayes in the army bill as first presented that he has not approved in the army bill which he signed. To the persistence, therefore, of the Democratic houses of Congress the country owes the affirmation of the great principle that our popular elections shall be free from military force."

"What is your judgment upon the new doctrine which the Republican organs take—that the President is a coordinate and equal part of the legislation upon all questions of policy, expediency and necessity?"

"That is another question that has been raised by the pretensions of Mr. Hayes in his collision with the Congress. The result of his claim of power over legislation would, in effect, convert the Executive Department into a third House of Congress. This is a fundamentally false and dangerous position, and arises from either a total misconception or a partisan distortion of the true function of his office. The first article of the Constition provides that all legislative powers therein granted shall be vested in Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives—the adjective 'all,' the verb 'vested' and the noun 'Congress' have unmistakable meanings. This law is explicit. No false interpretation of the subsequent provisions of the Constitution which vest in the President a qualified veto power can destroy the effect of that reading. This veto power is expressly subject to a two-thirds vote by the two houses, and the objects for which it was delegated are stated by Alexander Hamilton to be the protection of the Constitution from overthrow, to prevent invasion of the just prerogatives of the other departments of the Government by the legislative branch, and generally to remedy and check inadvertent and hasty legislation. But the construction given by the President in his veto messages at the extra session would nececessarily involve not only the assumption of legislative power by the Executive branch, but the practical absorption of all the powers of the Government to his hands. If such reasoning is to be maintained, the American people must contemplate an executive branch of the Government armed with powers ample for its own indefinite perpetuation and which will inevitably be used for such purposes. In the face of such an issue raised and emphasized by the President and his counsellors at the late extra session, I deem it of the utmost importance that the people of this country should comprehend the meaning and the effect of the powers for which he contends, and which, if allowed, will be fatal to that distribution of powers which our forefathers deemed to be essential for the preservation of liberty. The President intimates although not clearly in his last veto message that he has the rightful power to convene Congress and to keep it in session until appropriations sufficient in his arbitrary judgment are made for the enforcement of any law. This claim, if examined, will be found to contain an assumption of legislative power and discretion which it is not unfair to call usurpation. By the unvaried custom of our Government from its commencement all appropriations for its support under its laws are made annually. In the case of the army the Constitution expressly inhibits any appropriation for more than two years. Yet, if the power be conceded which has now been claimed by the President, no retrenchment will ever become possible until he shall consent to the repeal of the law, whose execution he claims to be necessary, and of the expenses of executing which he constitutes himself sole judge. That is what I mean by saying that the doctrine contended for by Mr. Hayes would lead virtually to the absorption of entire legislative power in the executive branch, for it would in effect make all appropriations perpetual and destroy the power of Congress to exercise any discretion over the amount or the uses to which they should be applied."

"The President having taken this position, what is likely to result?"

"He has taken it in his veto of the Legislative and Judicial Appropriation bill, and if he is suffered to maintain it by the popular voice, that which Hamilton termed 'a dishonorable stagnation in public affairs' must occur."

"What is your opinion of the veto of the bill for marshals' expenses?"

"An examination of the Revised Statutes will disclose how little justification Mr. Hayes had for his veto of the separate bill providing $600,000 for the expenses, fees, etc., of United States marshals. He says in substance that because the bill sent him excluded the application of any moneys thereby appropriated to pay deputy marshals for political services at the polls of election and because it forbade any officer of any department 'to incur any liability' for such services that therefore his power to execute election laws was interfered with and prevented; wherefore for that sole reason he refused to assent to the legislation. Section 3,678 of the Revised Statutes represents and adopts laws passed in 1809 and in 1868, and these and the section expressly prohibit the application of [illegible] except to the objects for which it was especially appropriated. Section 3,679, which was the act of July, 1870, forbade any department of the government to expend any sum in excess of the appropriation made by Congress—and I beg you to italicize these words—or to involve the Government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations. It would puzzle a court, much less plain citizens, to see why a bill should be vetoed which forbade an officer to 'incur any liability' for the government when an existing statute plainly forbade him from involving the government in any contract for the same object. Yet the law of July, 1870, was passed by a Congress having a two-thirds Republican majority in both branches and was approved by Grant, a Republican President."

"Would not all the reasons which Mr. Hayes presents for vetoing the bills passed by the Democrats at the last Congress apply with equal force to the existing provisions of the law?"

"Certainly, and in some cases with greater force."

"Was enough good done at the extra session to pay for the trouble of convening Congress?"

"Yes; I think the repeal of the test-oath and formation of the improved system of obtaining impartial juries were alone a sufficient recompense to the country and to Congress for all the expense and harassment of the session. It is eyident that these most powerful and necessary reforms found little favor with the President, who vetoed the Appropriation bills with which they were at first combined without a word of intimation that he approved of any features of the bills. For the reasons I have given I consider the results of the extra session to have been valuable to the country. They have wiped out a feature of war legislation permitting the use of troops as police at the polls. They have removed a test-oath disgraceful to our age and country. They have made a step toward the abolition of the Radical system of packing juries in political cases. They have exposed to the people schemes for the centralization of power, and for the people to be forewarned is to be forearmed. So I consider the results of the extra session to have been favorable to the good government of the country and creditable to the Democratic majorities, by whose exertions these valuable reforms have been achieved despite the obstructiveness of a Republican Executive."

How Politeness Won the Affections of a Wealthy Lady.

For a year past Mr. Fansher H. Underhill, a polite young gentleman, has had charge of a counter at Macy's establishment, corner Fourteenth street and Sixth avenue. He was very popular with lady customers. But his most constant and profitable patron was Miss Louise Wilkins, of No. 11 East 45th street. Miss Wilkins is the daughter of a wealthy retired lumber merchant, Mr. Stephen Wilkins, who liberally supplied his daughter with money. Miss Wilkins is fond of shopping, like all fashionable ladies, and each morning she went forth on her rounds of visits to the different stores. About the 1st of January last she purchased some articles at Mr. Underhill's counter, at Macy's and was gratified at the affability of the young salesman, who thought it no trouble to exhibit every line of goods without a murmur. Soon the lady became an almost daily visitor, and after a while she repeated her visits several times during the course of a single day.

It became evident that Miss Wilkins was in love, and that the object of her affections was the polite salesman.

Young Underhill was influenced by the tender passion, and became the young lady's most ardent admirer. Miss Wilkins introduced him to her mother, who was prevailed upon to invite him to tea. On Thursday Miss Wilkins met Mr. Underhill at his sister's house, No. 428 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, where Rev. Charles N. Patridge was in waiting, and the pair were speedily united in marriage.

"BOB WEBSTER."

A STATEMENT REGARDING WEBSTER'S SPURIOUS SON.

A Letter from George Ticknor Curtis---The Bogus Claims of a Georgia Mulatto Disproved.

New York Star.

FAR ROCKAWAY, R. I., July 5.—SIR: In your paper of this date there is copied from the Chicago Times an account of a reputed natural son of Daniel Webster, purporting to have been written at Atlanta, Ga. The story does not hang well together. The mother of this man is stated to have been a mulatto girl named Charlotte, who was a slave of Mr. Gadsby's, the proprietor of Gadsby's Hotel in Washington; her son is said to have been born in that hotel on the 20th of August, 1820, and that Mr. Webster boarded there. Mr. Webster was not in Congress in 1819, or in 1820. He could not have been in attendance on the Supreme Court of the United States in November, 1819, for the Court did not sit in that month. In 1819 and 1820, Mr. Webster was practicing his profession in Boston with great diligence, and I presume every day of his life can be accounted for through both of these years. I certainly know where he was in every month of these years, and I know of no reason for believing that he was a boarder at Gadsby's Hotel in November, 1819, or in August, 1820. Another part of this story is that Mr. Webster purchased Charlotte, took her to Boston, gave her freedom, employed her as a housemaid "in his home," and that she died in Boston "only a few years ago." It is added that "Bob," her son, frequently heard from her. He says she talked freely to him of his origin, and told him many anecdotes of the private life of Mr. Webster, to whom she was passionately devoted." Then it is added that when the son grew up he became the property of young Gadsby, who gambled him away to one Billy Martin in Richmond, who sold him to Col. Yancey of Georgia, who gave him his liberty in 1873 and set him up in business in Atlanta.

I am pretty well acquainted with Mr. Webster's domestic history, and with many of the scandalous stories that have been told of his amours, and I never before heard of this mulatto girl "Charlotte." If Mr. Webster purchased this girl after the birth of her son, and took her to Boston, it must have been during the life of the first Mrs. Webster, who died in 1828. Mr. Webster's second marriage took place in 1830. It is my firm belief, founded on investigations that I have made of every tangible story that I ever heard of concerning Mr. Webster's imputed amours, that he never was unfaithful to his marriage vows; and I know that this was the belief of the late Mr. Hiram Ketchum, an intimate friend of Mr. Webster's, who was much older than myself, and who knew, of course, much more of his life that preceded his second marriage than I could have known. Although I have known a good deal, both personally and by tradition, about the colored servants whom Mr. Webster brought from Washington to Boston from time to time, I never heard of this "Charlotte" in any way. He was not a man to do that sort of thing. There never was a more decorous household than his within my knowledge.

But if this mulatto girl talked to her son about his origin, &c., when did she do it? If she was transferred to Boston after his birth, and he remained in Washington, when did she tell him the anecdotes about Mr. Webster's private life? How old was he when he heard these anecdotes? Was he ever in Boston? &c.

Again, this account says:

"When Sherman's army passed through Georgia, with it came Captain Fletcher Webster, a son of Daniel Webster. He had heard the story of Bob's nativity, and accidentally found him while statioped in Atlanta. He bestowed various attentions on him. He gave him a picture of Daniel Webster, which Bob still has. Fletcher Webster was killed in a battle near Atlanta."

Colonel Webster was killed at the second battle of Bull Run, on one of the last days of August, 1862. Sherman's march into Georgia took place in the summer of 1864. This part of the story, at least, does not "tally" very well.

It seems that "Bob" has a claim pending at Washington for the destruction of his property by Sherman's soldiers. Whether his asserted paternity is relied upon to create sympathy in his behalf, in the consideration of his "claim," I think that we had better, as Hamlet says, "have grounds more relative than this," before we admit his paternity, whatever may be his property.

Finally, if this man was the natural son of Mr. Webster, how came he to be left in slavery? By law, to be sure, he would be the property of Mr. Gadsby, who owned the mother. But Mr. Webster never had anything to do with any colored people who were born slaves, whom he did not emancipate. He gave freedom to several servants who came into his employment, and paid a good deal of money of them. If he was the father of this child, it is not in the smallest degree like Mr. Webster to have left him a slave in the hands of old or young Gadsby. He never was unwilling to do whatever money could do for those who had any sort of claim upon him, and his profusion is as well known as his goodness of heart.

Yours very respectfully,
GEORGE TICKNOR CURTIS.

THE PARADE.

Companies Expected to Arrive---A Stirring Time.

The citizens of Raleigh have often times had occasion to give thanks for the services of the City Fire Department, two companies of which, viz: Victor Engine Company and the Bucket Company are composed of colored men. They are strong-handed, the rolls of the Victor numbering seventy-five and the Bucket fifty men. It was their intention to have a parade on the Fourth, as before stated in these columns, but circumstances precluded the carrying out of the programme; consequently the time was extended to the 17th.

The committee in charge have been zealously engaged in perfecting the arrangements for a general good time, and to which so far our Raleigh people have quite liberally contributed. A letter received from L. L. Lewis, Foreman of the New Berne Fire Company, states that they have made arrangements by which they will arrive in this city at 12:30 this afternoon. The Warrenton company will be here this afternoon also, as well as one from Fayetteville. It was stated that the Charlotte company would be unable to attend, but it was rumored that they intended coming by way of Chatham.

The colored military companies in the city, the Oak City Blues, the East Raleigh Guards and the Oberlin Vance Guards will also turn out, and it is stated that three other companies will be present, as permission has been granted them for that purpose. Of necessity full details could not be procured for this publication, but to-morrow's issue of the NEWS will contain the full programme.

JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

HUSSEY, - - Editor.

WEDNESDAY, - - - - JULY, 16, 1879.

AT ISSUE.

Ben Hill in his Tammany speech tersely presented the issues between the Republican party and the Democracy. He said:

"People ask, What have you accomplished? We have accomplished more "for the liberties of the people than has "ever been accomplished in any four "months of our history, [Applause.] "We have served upon the Republican "party a new notice that this is a free "government, and that people are not "to be governed in times of peace by "standing armies; that this is a country "in which the States are able to manage "their own elections; and that they "shall not be controlled in their man"agement by deputy marshals of infi"nite number appointed at Washing"ton City.

The Republican party would gladly keep in the background their record of fraud and force: gladly would they evade the resentment of a people wronged by the reversal of their will as expressed in the election of 1876.

But they cannot escape the issue raised by their crimes against constitutional liberty and the rights of the people, by the use of marshals, and troops in New York and Philadelphia elections; the overruling of Southern States by the army, stationed at polls and caused to patrol the country for political purposes; nor can they destroy the recollection of the seizure of the election machinery by United States marshals and United States supervisors, and the seizure of the State government by the army in 1872, under the order of a drunken Republican judge; the overthrow of a State Legislature in 1875 by bayonets; the crimes forgery, perjury, bribery and corruption by which the result of the election of 1876 was set aside.

Upon these issues the Democratic party of the country can march to victory; the people of this country want peace and freedom from the fierce anxieties of political strife, with free elections, unawed by bayonets, and the enforcement of the principles of economical government.

THE MEXICAN VETERANS.

We respond to an inquiry from "an old Mexican soldier" as follows:

Congress in 1848 passed a bill granting to the officers and soldiers of the Mexican war three month's additional pay. A large number of the beneficiaries under this act received their additional pay, but a large number, either through ignorance or negligence, failed to make application before the expiration of two years, at which date moneys appropriated by Congress remaining unexpended are covered into the Treasury. In order to do justice to these men, Congress at its last session passed a bill to give the three months extra pay to the men of the Mexican war who did not receive it under the act of 1848. As the act passed at the last session has been misunderstood, either in one particular or the other, it is appended in full:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, directed, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay to the officers and soldiers "engaged in the military service of the United States in the war with Mexico, and who served out the time of their engagement or were honorably discharged," the three months' extra pay provided for by the act of July nineteen, eighteen hundred and forty-eight, and the limitations contained in said act, in all cases, upon the presentations of satisfactory evidence that said extra compensation has not been previously received; provided, that the provisions of this act shall include also the officers, petty officers, seamen and marines of the United States Navy, the Revenue Marine Service, and the officers and soldiers of the United States Army employed in the prosecution of said war."

In addition to the above, the last Congress made considerable headway upon a bill to grant annual pensions to the veterans of the Mexico war. This bill did not become a law. It will, however, without a doubt, be passed at the next session of Congress. Both pension committees, a very good majority of both Houses, and the Treasury Department are all favorable to doing this much justice to the men who bore the heat of the battle in the war with Mexico.

THE CREED FOR A FARMER.

The agriculturists of Canada met in convention not long ago and adopted the following creed:

We believe in small farms and thorough cultivation.

We believe the earth loves to eat as well as the owner, and ought, therefore, to be well manured.

We believe in going to the bottom of things, and, therefore, in deep plowing and enough of it. All the better if it be a subsoil plow.

We believe in large crops which leave land better than they found it, making both the farm and farmer rich at once.

We believe that every farmer should own a good farm.

We believe that the fertilizer of any soil is a spirit of industry, enterprise, and intelligence; without these, lime, gypsum, and guano will be of little use.

We believe in good fences, good farm-houses, good orchards, and good children enough to gather the fruit.

We believe in a clean kitchen, a neat wife in it, a clean cupboard, a dairy, and a clear conscience.

We believe that to ask a man's advice is not stooping, but of much benefit.

We believe that to keep a place for everything, and everything in its place, saves many a step, and is pretty sure to lead to good tools and keeping them in order.

We believe that kindness to stock, like good shelter, is saving of fodder.

We believe that it is a good thing to keep an eye on experiments, and note all, good and bad.

We believe that it is a good rule to sell grain when it is ready.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Our correspondents will please observe the great importance to us of being prompt and brief. We want news, not opinions. We want the news fresh. Its prompt communication is indispensable. After it is two or three days old it ceases to be news. Our correspondents are furnished with the necessary blanks, and we urge upon each and all of them to be prompt, brief and accurate.

THE tender and touching, sympathy manifested by the English people, and specially the aristocracy of that lordly land, at Chiselhurst, over the dead prince imperial, as reported in yesterday's NEWS, was observed, even in these obscure parts, with unaffected concern. A common chord of human sympathy has been touched by the death of the young prince. As the N. Y. Herald oppositely remarks: All men and women of generous natures have a tender place in their hearts for a youth who set out in life as this prince did—who was, perhaps, only the victim of a great history—who might have proved the salvation of a wonderful name, and whose end has outdone the tragedies of story. In becoming the organ of this sympathy England takes a fitting place in a touching picture on the poetical side of contemporary history.

THE NEWS could very cheerfully and cordially support Senator Bayard as the Presidential nominee of the Democratic party. We have watched his political life closely and suspiciously. He is more than a common politician. He is one of the few broad-minded statesmen now in political life. We will take Senator Ransom's word for it—and he has known him intimately for years—that he is one of the purest men in public life. We don't want to be understood as disparaging "the claims" of the numerous Tildens', Thurmans', Hendricks' and Hancocks' whose names have been mentioned in this connection. It is simply to direct the attention of the country to Mr. Bayard's views, elsewhere published in the NEWS this morning, that we write.

IT IS conceded that in vim, push and general wide-awakeness, Georgia is ahead of any of the Southern States. But why is this thusly? "The Agricultural Department, and its abolition is ably and earnestly advocated by some of the best farmers in the House," says a correspondent of the Savanah News.

AS the NEWS published one side of the Webster scandal some time ago it publishes to-day Geo. Ticknor Curtis' vindication of the fame and reputation of the dead statesman. With all his greatness—and he was preeminently America's statesman—Mr. Webster had his peccadilloes. Who has not?

IT COST $148,000,000 to run the Government last year, or $13,000,000 more than for the preceding year. But what's the difference, the dear people foots the bill.

THE biggest boom just now is Key's little pleasure trip at the expense of the Government.

Didn't Say Anything to Him.

Extract from a woman's testimony in the trial of her husband for abusing her:

"He struck me in the face. I didn't say anything to him, but gave him a good talking to."

The attorney scratched his chin a moment, and asked the woman if she would please repeat her statement.

"I say he he struck me. I didn't say anything to him, but I gave him a good talking to."

Again the attorney scratched his chin, but finally told the woman to go on and tell what else had happened.

"That same afternoon he struck me again. I can stand a great deal, and I didn't say a word to him, but I gave him a good talking to."

The attorney thought long and deeply, and then asked:

"Did he strike you the third time?"

"Yes, sir; he did."

"Did you say anything to him?"

"No, sir."

"Not a word?"

"Not a word."

"But perhaps you gave him a good talking to?"

"You can just bet your life I did."

The lawyer began to scratch his chin again, but the judge dismissed the case.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Send for illustrated circulars and price list.

Little Barbara.

Pretty Barbara, ripe and red,
With sweet small mouth, like the bees abod,
And full of nectar and honey-dew;
So pretty a thing, I dare not swear
To the art of the ribbon that ties her hair,
Or the buckle that binds her shoe;
So like her each trinket she has to wear,
It seems just as if it grew,
Like a rose in its petals and pollen dust,
That wears its beauty because it must,
And something like Barbara, too.

As she dips her small tin bucket in
The little fountain of woven glass,
Like webs that the spiders weave and spin
To hang on the shining blades of grass,
A face as bright and happy as hers,
In the nets of the silken gossamers,
Looks out of the water's smooth eclipse,
As if it was happy to hold within it
The soft verbena red of her lips,
And kiss and caress her just for a minute,
In the arms of the dimples, smooth and still,
Ere it goes and soberly turns the mill.

For life to her in the honey-dew
Is nothing yet but the way-side spring,
Between the upper and under blue,
That makes a fiction of everything,
As perfectly like as if it grew;
And she is too happy to see within it
The shape of her small sweet self a minute,
From the bow in the hair to the tie of her shoe,
To know that the marvelous shadows mean
The simple inner beauty that shows
But now in the color of a rose,
And now like the water's smooth eclipse,
In hearts that hold the picture still,
As we go and soberly turn the mill.

A New Form of Investment.

The influx of wealth into this country after the past seven years of dullness is beginning to increase the speculative feeling in all channels of trade. Already the business centres are lively with the praises of mining, manufacturing, railroad, real estate and other speculations; but strange to say, so great is the well deserved confidence in the strict integrity characterizing every action of the managers of the celebrated Louisiana Lottery that its tickets for the monthly grand drawings which cost two dollars each are a favorites purchase of the leading bankers and brokers in all the large cities. M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or at No. 319 Broadway, New York city, will give all desired information.

TUTT'S PILLS IMPART APPETITE.

DR. TUTT has succeeded in combining in these pills the heretofore antagonistic qualities of a STRENGTHING, PURGATIVE, and a PURIFYING TONIC.

Their first apparent effect is to increase the appetite by causing the food to properly assimilate. Thus the system is nourished, and by their tonic action on the digestive organs, regular and healthy evacuations are produced.

The rapidity with which PERSONS TAKE ON FLESH while under the influence of these pills, indicates their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, melancholy, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health & strength to the system. LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Spring chickens scarce.

—Eggs, ten cents a dozen.

—Internal Revenue receipts yesterday $2,107.95.

—Watermelons and cantelopes in plenty, five to fifteen cents each.

—No bonds of any consequence were received at the Treasury yesterday.

—Mr. C. W. Garrett, of Ringwood, whose name will at once be recognized as the propriety of Garrett's celebrated wines, was in this city yesterday.

—Drummers' licenses were issued to Newburger & Hock Brothers, Philadelphia, and Tucker & Company, Baltimore, yesterday.

—The colored people will give a ball in the Bagley building this evening. Arrangements have been made to secure comfort for those attending.

—Donations for the colored firemen to assist in defraying the expenses of the visiting companies who will participate in to-morrow's parade may be sent to the committee, Messrs. Burgess and Moore. As they are short of funds a little financial aid would meet with thanks.

—The meeting of the Board of Aldermen last evening was for the purpose of receiving the report of the light committee in relation to the construction of oil tanks. The contract was awarded to J. C. Brewster for $50, he to construct three tanks of galvanized iron to contain two hundred gallons each.

—The Board of Agriculture held its quarterly meeting in the Executive office yesterday. The report of the subdepartments were submitted and discussed. No new business was transacted and the Board adjourned to meet this morning at 10 o'clock. All the members were present except Colonel T. M. Holt and Mr. J. R. Thigpen.

—Dr. W. C. Herndon, President of the Oxford Railroad is in the city. The prospect for building this line is encouraging. Dr. Herndon thinks the work will begin on or before September 1st next. Fifty thousand dollars have already been raised in this interest.

—Ann Eliza Jones, a colored woman who resides in the western part of the city, fell senseless from heat stroke in the Capitol grounds yesterday, and lay in the State House from 2 until 5 o'clock in a critical condition. The timely presence of Dr. Hubert Haywood and the free use of the hypodermic injection is said to have saved the woman's life.

—We have all, perhaps, been impressed with or by the excessive heat of the past few days, and it is said experience brings the most just appreciation, at least so it is with the citizen whose experience we are about to relate, it being a little different from ours. He was endeavoring to keep cool in his summer-night's attire, which, to speak plain, consists of but one garment, when the fact was suddenly forced upon him that it was getting rather warm, even for this weather, about his lower limbs. He soon felt a "stinging" sensation, followed by a terrible buzzing, and springing from the bed made his grand debut for open air. He is not generally considered a very sprightly man, but John Robinson's star actor never accomplished so many athletic feats as he, and there is no "reasonable doubt" in the mind of this reporter but that Goldsmith Maid would have been distanced had she tried to keep up with this staid citizen's pedestrian journey for cooler climes. He is not much for endurance, however, and that's the reason we shall not pit him against Weston. He was picked up about two miles from home, and had only sufficient breath to mutter: "Be gorra, do—oil I can, I can't keep cool this weather. Even the bees have made me their hive and great Caesar's ghost! there's no peace; none!" We assured him that it was not the fault of the bees because they had gotten under that garment and could not extricate themselves. By careful nursing, it is expected he will be able to assume a "sitting" posture in a few days.

Insured for $20,000.

Rufus L. Patterson, whose untimely death is elsewhere noted, was insured in the Etna Insurance company (W. H. Crow, agent, Raleigh) for $20,000. We understand there is other insurance on his life.

Knights of Honor.

Regular meeting of Oak City Lodge, No. 419, Knights of Honor, to-night at 8 o'clock. Every member is requested to be prompt.

ur Northern Mail.

Again we are politely reminded by one of the obliging clerks in the city post office, that the northern train missed connection at Weldon. No northern mail of course.

Senator Ransom.

Senator Ransom spent yesterday in the city and received many cordial shakes of the hand and had many earnest expressions of confidence and approbation. His wan face shows the effects of the protracted extra session of Congress. He may spend a portion of the summer with Judge Grant at his summer home in Colorado.

Stricken with Paralysis.

About 7 o'clock p. m. yesterday Mr. Brown, of the firm of Julius Lewis & Company, was stricken with paralysis. He was taken to his boarding house on McDowell street, where medical aid was summoned. He was resting comfortably at a late hour last night.

A Handful of Pleasant Delights.

This is the title of a handsomely printed work containing old poems and descriptive excerpts from various works, which makes pleasant reading for this warm weather. It is issued by Charles Pratt & Company, manufacturers of the noted Astral Oil, and is presented by Julius Lewis & Company, who are the agents for this State. Call at their store and get a copy.

Sickness.

If our people are wise they will profit by such warnings as come from Norfolk. A correspondent of the Index-Appeal, writes:

"Consequent upon the hot dry weather there is much sickness in the city mostly among the children. The mortality for last month was fearful and unprecedented, except in seasons of epidemic. Only think that out of a population of twenty-three thousand the death for June should be ninety-four, more than double the number for any month since the fever."

Mayor's Court.

Sam Miner had heard a great deal about Jay Gould, Jim Keene and the rest of those noted speculators who gobble up railroads, grain crops, etc., and thought he would enter into an egg speculation. So he contracted for a lot of eggs and forgot to put up a margin. He also forgot to put up a margin for his appearance at court, and now he will be unable to see the firemen's parade.

A warrant was issued for a sable Magdalen who had won the affections of a black scamp from his wife, a worthy woman.

North Carolina Teachers

Will find, on investigation, that all School Books can be bought from Alfred Williams & Co., Raleigh, on as good terms as from any other Booksellers in the United States. This firm always carries a full stock of every thing in their line, and an examination of their new catalogue will show that prices of all School Books have been reduced considerably. Terms to teachers and dealers will be furnished on application.

Oakwood Cemetery.

The Senate Chamber was the scene of a highly interesting meeting yesterday evening. A large number of our most public spirited citizens had assembled to devise ways and means to improve and beautify Oakwood Cemetery. After some brief explanatory remarks by Mr. P. F. Pescud, Sr., a permanent organization was effected by the election of Mrs. Margarette Mordecai President. Ten vice Presidents, a Treasurer and two Secretaries were then elected. [The names of the officers will be published hereafter.] Entertaining speeches were made by a number of gentlemen present, who evinced a pardonable city pride in dwelling on the natural beauties and advantages of Oakwood. The society was named "The Ladies Auxiliary to the Raleigh Cemetery Association."

Death of Rufus L. Patterson.

A telegram to the NEWS of yesterday's date informs us that Rufus Lenoir Patterson died at his home in Salem at 8:30 o'clock in the morning of that date. The deceased was a prominent and leading citizen of Salem, where he was engaged many years in extensive manufacturing and mercantile pursuits. He was well known throughout the State and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His boyhood was spent in Raleigh during the residence of his father here while Treasurer of the State, and subsequently as President of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad. Many of his old companions and warm personal friends here will read this sad announcement with emotions of sincere grief. He graduated at the University in 1851. At college as elsewhere he was universally popular. In after years he loved his alma mater with that devotion characteristic of the sons of that honored institution.

His lines had fallen in pleasant places. Soon after leaving college he married a daughter of Governor Morehead. His second marriage to Miss Fries, of Salem, was another happy epirode in his social and domestic life. With an eminently social nature he combined fine business talents, amassing large wealth. For many years he was a member of the firm of Fries & Company, of Salem, the leading manufacturing establishment in the State, and at the time of his death was extensively engaged in mercantile pursuits. His genial nature had no taste for the acerbities of political contention, having on more than one occasion refused the nomination for Congress in the 7th Congressional District. He was a moderate Republican and commanded the respect of men of both parties at a time when Republicanism was synonymous with social ostracism. In the death of Rufus Lenoir Patterson the State has lost a public spirited citizen, a devoted, true-hearted North Carolinian. The community that so long honored and loved him has sustained a great loss.

Sincere sympathy is everywhere expressed for the deeply bereaved family. May the sod rest lightly on the grave of the dead.

Weldon Items.

A postal from Weldon by last night's mail says:

A negro is in jail at this place who calls himself Levins Boykin, but who answers the description of John Young, who is charged with killing John Boone, about a year ago in Sampson county.

Last Thursday the thermometer indicated 107°, the highest point reached since the record has been kept here, seven years. C.

Healthfulness.

A distinguished physician says: "After a careful examination of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, I am satisfied that it is a wholesome preparation. more commonly called Town Talk is in full blast at M. Grausman's.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

For Congress.—The fame of the average Congressman is of such short lived duration that it seems hardly worth while now to pay $20,000 for an election. Who wants the nomination in our district? for there is nothing equal to Henry's Carbolic Salve for the cure of all sores, wounds, cuts and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits.

Good Results of Life Insurance.

Another practical illustration of the value of Life Insurance is found to exist in the fact that the Ætna Life Insurance Company through their General Agent, W. H. BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.
